NATIONAL SATURDAY CLUBS

@LIVERPOOL JOHN MOORES UNIVERSITY

NATIONAL SATURDAY CLUBS OFFER YOUNG PEOPLE AGED 13-16 THE OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY EVERY SATURDAY MORNING AT THEIR LOCAL COLLEGE OR UNIVERSITY FOR FREE. CLUBS START OCTOBER AND JANUARY 2018/19

Joining a National Saturday Club is a chance to learn more about a subject that a young person loves and is passionate about, meet exceptional people, learn new skills and find out more about higher education and rewarding careers.

Tutors put together a 10 -12 week programme of activities using their specialist facilities and the emphasis is on exploration and discovery, broadening members' horizons and being creative and innovative. Liverpool John Moores University currently has two established Saturday clubs:

ART AND DESIGN
October 2018

WRITING AND TALKING
recommencing January 2019

THE UNIVERSITY IS RUNNING TWO NEW SATURDAY CLUBS IN JANUARY 2019

- Bright Ideas and Innovation
- Science and Crime

Also, look out for our new course 'This is Public Health!' starting Autumn 2019

BRIGHT IDEAS AND INNOVATION
January 2019

This club is a space for young innovators to flex their imaginations to respond to the challenges of the 21st Century. Participants will use problem-solving techniques to respond to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. They will work together to develop ideas for new products or services that meet the needs of potential customers. This club is led by the Centre for Entrepreneurship, the award-winning LJMU team that support graduate start-ups.

SCIENCE AT THE CRIME SCENE
January 2019

Join the 'Science at the Crime Scene' Saturday club to use a range of practical science skills to solve a murder! In the 12 weekly sessions from January to April 2019, you will use Biology, Chemistry and Physics based science skills to be a real life Crime Scene Investigator just like Barry Allen in The Flash!

This is what happened...

At 3am on Monday 17th December 2018 police were called to 10 John Moores Street, Liverpool after the neighbour reported a disturbance and saw a male suspect running from the property, down John Moores Street and turning right into James Parsons Way.

The police have taken two suspects into custody and have collected evidence from both suspects. The property 10 John Moores Street is known to LJMU Police as the residence of a drug dealer, Mr A Deal. On entering the property a male body was found believed to be Mr A Deal. The forensic pathologist was called and the body was removed to the mortuary for an autopsy to be performed. Who did it??? Is there enough evidence to prosecute them? YOU Decide!!!

Saturday Club will appeal to young people interested in issues of social justice, policy, evidence, and community change and introduces them to degree programmes in Public Health and Environmental Health.

'Unofficial Guide to Medicine' Competition

We would like to inform you of an international essay writing competition that your students may wish to enter. The Unofficial Guide to Medicine is a medical textbook company committed to producing high quality textbooks written by and for medical students.

We are passionate about providing school students with opportunities to develop their CV and increase their chance of being successful applicants to medical school. Our latest endeavour in this field is the 2018 Unofficial Guide to Medicine Essay Competition.

The competition is now open and we will be accepting entries until Friday 8th February. All your students have to do is write a 1500 word essay on one of the following titles to be in with a chance of winning a complete set of our textbooks, worth £250. More importantly than this, however, is the opportunity to put an internationally acclaimed award on their personal statements – something that would impress any medical, dental or veterinary school that they were to apply to.

The essay titles for 2018 are:

- Discuss the role of the NHS in disease prevention
- Discuss the ethics of treating patients with smoking- and alcohol-related disease

For more information about the competition, and to read entries from previous years, visit www.unofficialguidetomedicine.com

Year 12 and thinking about Oxford University?

Why not apply to attend a taster stay and see if it's for you?

NIQ is an access programme, which means that we prioritise students with good grades from backgrounds that are under-represented at Oxford and other highly selective universities. To find out more, follow the link below.

<http://www.uniq.ox.ac.uk/dates-2019>

It's worth remembering that selection for UNIQ is different from undergraduate selection for the University, so even if you aren't offered a place on UNIQ you could still successfully apply Oxford next year. And we hope you will.

Applications for UNIQ are only open to students currently in their first year of A-Levels (or equivalent) at UK* state schools/colleges/sixth forms/academies.

Dates for 2019

Applications	Offers
Applications open Monday 03 December	Student deadline for accepting places on UNIQ Spring & Summer 04 March
Applications close at 11pm 28 January	Teacher reference requests sent TBA
Decisions posted online Monday 25 February	Teacher reference deadline TBA

If not, you can always attend an open day or follow the link below to see if there are any study days that suit you.

Medical Sciences Year 12 Study Day Oxford University

Oxford hold numerous study days which might interest you. One example is the Medical Sciences Day described below.

All enquiries should be sent to Nelli - access@univ.ox.ac.uk

University College are excited to host an engaging and challenging study day for 60 Year 12 students interested in the Medical Sciences, such as Medicine, Biomedical Sciences, Biochemistry and Psychology. The day will include lectures and workshops from Univ's tutors and graduate students. The day will be a valuable opportunity to help you decide on a degree subject, as well as explore subjects you are interested in beyond your school curriculum.

To apply students need to submit an application form, and a teacher from their school needs to submit a teacher approval form to support their application. These days can be oversubscribed so not all applicants will necessarily have a place on the day. The deadline is Thursday 24 January. For a provisional programme and details of how to apply, please see Univ's website. All enquiries should be sent to Nelli on access@univ.ox.ac.uk.

Peter Cane Legal Reasoning Prize 2018 for Yr12 and Yr13 students.

The third Peter Cane Prize for Legal Reasoning by an Aspiring Lawyer (2019) is now open to applicants (deadline Monday 4th Feb 2019 at 5 PM).

The prize was launched in 2017 and seeks to promote engagement with the ideas and reasoning behind law and legal studies, and particular to encourage those from all backgrounds and walks of life to apply to engage with the academic study of law

The prize is named after the distinguished lawyer, Professor Peter Cane, an internationally acclaimed scholar of legal theory, obligations and public law, and Corpus' first dedicated law fellow.

The final shortlisted candidates each year are invited to attend an afternoon event at Corpus Christi, with legal workshops and an award ceremony, which in 2019 will take place on Tuesday 12 March.

Please follow the link below in order to correctly make a submission for the Peter Cane Legal Reasoning Prize.
